From the Chair

By Allison Taylor

In a world that seems to be spinning backwards in terms of the progress that's been made, specifically in the areas of civil rights and social justice, we have the choice to let the chaos take over or to stay grounded and push forward.

I turn 40 in October and with that milestone, I reflect. I think back in just my short(ish) time on this earth and I can see the tangible effect of so many warriors that have come before me. From civil rights activists who fought for racial equality and women who broke the glass ceiling to the pioneers who ensured that the LGBTQIA community is treated with the same respect as any other segment of society, I know the worth of their scars.

None of these wars have been completely victorious to date, but so much of the hard work is in those first battles. Battles that my generation didn't have to fight because of the sacrifice of those before us.

As much as it seems like so much of this progress could soon be undone in a split second---we all make a choice in how we respond. I choose to stay planted in the footsteps of these heroes that have come before me.

The chaos is frigid and moves quickly. Watching the nightly news can literally make you physically sick and trying to keep up with the daily regression of our country and can have long term and real consequences on our collective mental health.

But there are rays of hope that spread warmth.

There are candidates who carry the torches that lead the next battles and I for one, will be there to fight along side them.

Continue to join me, friends, because the power of US is mighty.

Outreach Update

Jim Grayson

Onward for Outreach

In order to continue to be the premier organization that we have become, we need to be superior in three areas:

Positive Image-So that the public is aware of us and views us at the most positive level that we can achieve.

Positive brand-A brand that stands for the common good, for integrity, patriotism, diversity of opinion, as well as gender and ethnic representation. In other words, "The People's Party ."

Positive Action-A group that attends local events, that participates in local events and offers an annual free community picnic; elected officials who host town halls; sponsor effective legislation, and are responsive to their constituents.

In October, we can help our candidates in a number of ways. We have a local campaign office at 32123 1st Ave. S, where you can volunteer.

Help us on the corner sign waving where we make new friends; the candidates love it. Write a letter to the newspaper (we can help). Host a short "open house" with your neighbors (30 minutes to meet the candidates and talk with them).

Very important! Donors look to see who is giving money to the candidates and where it is coming from. A small donation shows local support, buys a yard sign, and encourages our hard working candidates.

Thank you for helping make 2018 one of the most successful years ever.
